WESTERNERS ARE TO FOREGATHER

Smoker Called in the Union for the Thirteenth of March

In pursuance of the policy decided upon at the last general meeting of the Western Club, the executive have made arrangements for the holding of the next gathering in the form of a smoker which will take place in the Union upon Tuesday, the thirteenth of the month. It is announced that the business of this coming together of the men from the West will be the election of new officers to succeed the retiring committee which has worked at the head of the club for the last year. However, before this item is brought before those who attend it is expected that they will be provided with a many-varied entertainment, the most novel of which will be a recitation by Reece Taprell of Commerce '23, who has consented to give the members one of the poems of Robert Service. Addresses by popular professors, blindfolded boxing bouts and music will vary the programme to the satisfaction, it is hoped, of all who are present.

McGILL WINS SECTION OF CITY LEAGUE

Senior Basketball Squad
Again Victorious

SCORE 44—16

Red and White Meets M. A.
A. A. Wednesday in City
Championship Games

Playing a fast passing game of basketball, the McGill Senior team, holders of the Intercollegiate title, were able to defeat the M. A. A. A. Blues last night by a score of 44 to 16. The game after the rather strenuous week-end was not very exciting, for the Red and White team was composed for the most part of the players who had not been used in the play-off. They all, however, gave good accounts of themselves, and it is evident that there will be no shortage of good basketball players at McGill for some time.

Turpel and Little were the only two regulars to start in the line-up. These two men, fed by the defence, were able to send a neat group of baskets into the ring. Little displayed his speed and ability at handling the sphere, while battling "Bill" Turpel fought his way through the opposition and made numerous assists, as well as sending three shots into the ring. Philpott, who was at centre, had little difficulty in getting the jump and was also a potent factor in the scoring department of the team. Hilton and Blumenstein formed the defence and although they played back most of the time they both fed the forwards with consistency.

At half time the game took a change, when "Art" Manson, Amaron and Mendelsohn appeared on the floor. They started action at once, and began to methodically pile in the baskets, which brought the total score so high. Crain watched the side lines. After the two hard fought games in Ottawa that this stellar defence man went through he has been given a rest till the City League play off starts on Wednesday night, when once again the Red and White squad will line up against a powerful team.

The game last night, however, showed that all the players were in good form, except in the free throwing department. Almost every man on the team took a try at this, some missing the ring net and back board altogether, but Mendelsohn showed the best at it and caged three out of four baskets.

At ten-thirty the teams lined up on the floor and shortly after the ball went into the ring. Little scored on a free try. The teams lined up and Philpott got the jump. Turpel flashed the ball to Little, who scored. (Continued on Page 3.)

SOCIETE TO HOLD SPEAKING CONTEST

R. V. C. Orators Will Compete in French

A regular meeting of the Societe Francaise will be held on Thursday afternoon at four o'clock in the R. V. C. Common Room. It will take the form of an Impromptu Speaking Contest, such as is held each year under the distinguished auspices of the Delta Sigma Society, with the added charm in this instance, of being conducted in French—a language in which a large number of the R. V. C. students are proficient.

After some discussion as to the relative attractions of a debate and a contest of this nature the latter was decided upon as it was thought to offer an opportunity for a larger number of students to show their interest in the Societe and their willingness to support its activities. A list is posted on the Bulletin Board at R. V. C., by means of which it is hoped that all who have any acquaintance whatever with French will show in a practical and definite way their support of the resolution passed some weeks ago at a meeting of the R. V. C. Undergraduate Society.

The subjects, which have been chosen with care by the Committee, have a three-fold nature. First, the members of the First Year will find them within the scope of their capabilities and interests (especially the latter, in certain cases); second, the Honour students in the upper years

COMMERCE IS OUT TO MAKE ITSELF KNOWN

Banquet on Thursday to be
Grand Affair

AT MT. ROYAL HOTEL

Speakers Will be Prominent City Men

Plans for the elaborate Commerce banquet to be held in the Mount Royal practically completed and everything is in readiness for a big night. This is one of the largest affairs that has ever been put on by a separate faculty of the University, and as things look at present it will be a roaring success.

Over one hundred and fifty students have signed the list, and nearly all of these have paid their five dollars to their class representatives. All of the faculty will be present. About twenty-five of Montreal's most prominent business men have already accepted, and there are still several to hear from. The speakers are all able men who are known both for their business ability and their oratorical powers. One need only mention that Sir Arthur Currie, Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, E. W. Beatty and Lt.-Col. Herbert Molson will speak to give some idea of what is in store for those attending the dinner.

The object of the banquet is to make the School of Commerce better known to the business men of Montreal. The school is a comparatively new branch of the University, and is known to only a limited number of persons. (Continued on Page 4.)

ADDRESS ON WATER PURIFICATION

Mr. Meadows to be the Speaker

The next meeting of the McGill Chemical Society will take place on Friday, March 9th, at 5 o'clock.

Mr. James O. Meadows will be the speaker and has chosen for his subject "Water Purification." The speaker is a sanitary engineer of wide experience and much of his work has been done in connection with the purification of the water supply in the districts in and around Montreal. His work has been particularly successful in combatting the periodic epidemics of typhoid fever, which have followed the contamination of water used for domestic purposes.

His lecture should therefore be of interest not only to chemists but to all those forced to face the problem of impure drinking water during the summer months.

BLOCK "M" IS AWARDED TO SIX PLAYERS

Honor Bestowed on Members of Hockey Team

OTHER AWARDS

Flanagan, Morrison, McGer-righ, McNaughton, Dempsey and Morris Receive
"Letter"

The naming of those who had qualified for insignia as a result of their work on the various hockey teams was the most important item of yesterday's meeting of the Hockey Club.

The following men of the senior team are qualified to receive large block M's: Flanagan, Dent, '23; McNaughton, Sci. '25; Morrison, post-graduate; Dempsey, Med. '25; McGerrigh, Arts '23, and Morris, Med. '24. Lynch and Monroe of Dent. '24 and Wyse of Sci. '24 will receive small block M's. Bell, Arts '26, being a freshman, is not entitled to an M and will get Grade M class numerals.

Of the intermediates, Pinhey, Sci. '25, Bartlett, Sci. '25, and McKinstey, Sci. '23; McLean, Arts '23, Brewer, Comm. '23 and Beardsley, Med. '25 are entitled to small block M's. Thompson, Dent. '26, will receive Grade A class numerals. The following juniors will receive Grade A numerals: Johnston, Munro and Code, Arts '26; Abbot, Hyman and Gordon, Sci. '25; Galley, Comm. '24, and Cope, Arts '24.

The Athletic Association will be asked to grant Grade B numerals to the following men, members of the championship inter-class and inter-faculty teams: McCall, McGillis, Findley, Luxton, Cave, James, Pollock, Van Koughnet, Ray and Burroughs, all of Science '24. Luxton, Findley, Van Koughnet, Cave and McGillis are further recommended, having played on the All Star Science team. Moran, Johnson, McLeod and Stephens of Sci. '23 and Crepeau of Science '26 were also members of this team, and will also receive Grade B numerals.

Puddicombe read a report of inter-faculty hockey in which he brought out the fact that the system of inter-class hockey in vogue this season had not given men enough opportunity to practice since, being an elimination series, these classes that were eliminated lost all interest in the series. He strongly recommended that the All Star series as well as the inter-class series be done away with and in their place a play-off series in each faculty, the winners to play off with other faculty winners.

Stephens read a brief report on the Holiday Hockey League which was a marked success.

Quackenbush asked that all equipment that had not yet been returned should be handed in at once. There being no more business for discussion, the meeting was adjourned.

LEGAL LIGHTS SIT AT FESTIVE BOARD

Law Undergrad Feast at Queen's To-night

At Queen's Hotel, 7.30 o'clock to-night, Canada's embryo advocates will meet for the annual law undergrad dinner.

Preparations have been under way for some time and everything seems to indicate that a really enjoyable time will be spent by all who have decided to attend.

The dinner committee has received from the undergraduates the most pleasing co-operation both in the matter of ticket sale and in the delegation of the minor details to sub-committees.

The array of speakers on the toast list is indeed imposing and the respondents are in every case men who are tried friends of the student body in law; men in whose presence the undergrads are certain to feel entirely at home.

The toast list is as follows:
The King—Wm. F. Maclellan.
The Alma Mater—Jon. Robinson, responded to by Sir Arthur Currie.
The Faculty—Jacques Senecal, and Dean Greenfields.

The Other Faculties—Vic. Barre, and Dean Laing.

The Bench Syd. Pierce, and Justice E. Howard.

The Bar—Dunc. R. Anderson, and Pierre Beaulac, K.C.

"Our Fellow Students-of-Law"—Marcel Gaboury and representatives of Laval (Que.), U. of Montreal and Osgoode Hall (Toronto).

HAVE YOU ANY MONEY IN THE BANK?

THERE is an old-fashioned theory which some people still cling to—that a bank wants no dealings with them unless they have "lots of money." Such is not the case with this bank; you will be welcomed whether you have $1 or $1,000 to deposit. Open an account with what you feel you can spare now and add to it regularly as "pay day" comes around. It is a comforting feeling to know that you have several hundred dollars put away safely in the bank.

RUMOURS AROUND KING COOK

Beauties from the South to Take Part

Once more rumors are prevalent around the Campus and the various buildings that the world in general and McGill in particular is about to be initiated into the sacred mysteries of "Ye ancient and Honorable Ceremonies of the Coronation of the Most High and Puissant Monarch," to wit, King Cook.

A daily representative who investigated these rumors carefully gained the information that there is considerable truth in them. The ceremony, which is greeted by all the Medicos with great acclaim, and by members of the other faculties with mingled feelings of horror and admiration, is to take place on March fifteenth.

The programme will conform to the usual plan in some respects, but several new and sprightly innovations will be introduced. A bevy of young and, needless to say, beautiful young ladies has been secured for the evening from Miami, Florida; these will be on deck in all their glory and war paint for the grand opening of the big celebration. Among other noted and notorious personages, His Satanic Majesty has kindly consented to be present on this occasion and those in attendance will have the pleasure of listening to a few well chosen words of advice by this widely-known character.

Of old all the Meds as a body supported this unique entertainment, and it is not expected that they will fail their classmates at this celebration which promises to be one of the most glorious and elaborate shows ever put on by any medical sophomore year. Programmes have already gone to press and are of the class of Med. '27.

COSMOS TO HEAR ADDRESS ON INDIA

R. Nandal to be Speaker this Evening

R. Nandal a Hindu student in the Medical faculty, will deliver an address on "India" before the Cosmopolitan Club in Strathcona Hall tonight.

Consisting as it does of students representing almost every nationality and creed, the Cosmos Club has so far this year attracted a good deal of attention. Several very instructive meetings have been held and the papers have maintained a very high standard. The open discussions which follow the main order of the programme are of the most diverse nature and have proven by no means the most interesting factor of the meetings.

Nandal has chosen for his subject tonight the development of political and industrial conditions in India from the earliest times to the present day. He will devote a portion of his talk to Gandhi, the great Hindu leader. The speaker will reply to questions pertaining to the subject on the completion of his address.

All students interested are cordially invited to attend.

The meeting commences at 8.30.

OFF HOURS.

Even the most heavily burdened student has off hours. It forms an interesting study to look into the various means by which the undergraduate succeeds in disposing of the time which he finds free to apply to his own purposes. One is a regular attendant at all the local theatres; another consistently fritters away his leisure moments in less edifying pursuits; a third perhaps is alive to the importance of keeping fit, and indulges methodically in the exercise which produces the concomitant of a healthy mind; there is also the phenomenon of the unfathomable one who wends his way religiously to the library with a studious look and a feeling of self-satisfaction. In short, each student has his own particular way of "killing time," as it were. Two general classes, however, present themselves at once to the observer: Those who spend their spare time profitably and those who do not.

In days when there was more leisure in the world, men found time to do many things which present-day life makes impossible. To-day it is a matter of getting the most out of very limited time; and the earlier in life that this art—for art it is—is learned, the greater will its value later prove. The day is almost too short for modern conditions; and with so many hours necessarily devoted to sleeping and eating and providing means for sustenance, there is no plethora of opportunities to do a great deal beyond keeping body and soul together. It becomes, therefore, exceedingly advisable to put whatever spare time there is to use, with careful and prudent discrimination, so that prodigality be reduced to a minimum. Time is too valuable a commodity in the average man's life that it be dissipated without thought or spent without profitable return.

Comparatively speaking, university men have a great deal of non-working hours. College life affords an admirable training ground for developing this faculty of putting spare time to good use. And in fact it is one of the distinguishing marks of the truly educated man that he knows how to utilize to the greatest advantage the idle moments which he finds at his disposal. To allow these golden opportunities of doing something worth while to slip through one's fingers is to ensure everlasting regrets. To develop the habit of using spare time away in aimless diversions at college is to leave a mark on the man which throughout his life he will value only as an incentive—advise the undergraduate not to do likewise. Seizing upon off-hours, however, and turning them to account for purposes of profit and improvement forms a habit which will prove more invaluable as time goes on.

The intelligent student with an eye to the future makes no uncertain choice as to the direction in which he applies his odd moments.

THE LAST DAY.

The last day of circulation for the various nomination lists will doubtless be characterized by much activity. McGill has made notable strides in the last four or five years in respect of the increased concern which is everywhere evident over the outcome of the elections; each office will be strenuously contested, in contrast to previous years, when some of the more important have been filled by acclamation. While an election is infinitely more satisfactory to the eventual holder of office, acclamation, though at times accepted as such, is not essentially a sign of disinterest; the student body may be so pre-eminently contented with the one man nominated for the post that they are not zealous in bringing about competition. On the other hand, however, elections, in themselves a definite indication of interest, are highly efficacious agencies in promoting even greater enthusiasm and in arousing the most lethargic student to a realization of his duties as emphasized by the office holders' responsibilities. To-night, at six o'clock, witnesses the last hour for acceptance of nomination lists by the Secretary of the Students' Council. McGill may well feel complimented upon the number of such promised for delivery, as well as upon the type of man on whose behalf they have received support and endorsement.

EDITORIAL NOTE.

Some few weeks ago the matter of the inauguration of a series of luncheons for the purpose of affording a means of contact between the graduate and student bodies was mooted in this column. Such affairs—they need not be dignified by the appellation of "functions"—prepared at a reasonable price, and held at regular intervals would serve a valuable purpose in the life of the university. Any agent that would be effective in furthering the intimacy of the graduate with the undergraduate, of renewing old associations for the former and impressing the latter with the extent of the institution of which he is a part, cannot be too eagerly, or too promptly utilized. The University authorities would most heartily endorse the plan; a representative member of the graduates has already expressed his sentiments in favour of the proposal in these columns; it rests with the student body to ensure the working of this scheme certainly this next year, if not this year.

OTHER CAMPUSES

STUDENTS COMPELLED TO BUY IRON.

The students of Kansas State Agricultural College are in a state of gloom and sadness. Even after their beer and wines were taken away from them they were still able to pass those posters of "Had your Iron To-day," in a condition of blissful content. The iron in their water was hard, strong, and much in evidence. Now they are about to lose that, as a filtration plant has been installed to remove this impurity.

SPRING IS COMING, BUT NOT YET.

McGill students are not the only ones who are looking forward to the balmy days. The students of the University of Wisconsin were wandering around in mud and slush, and are talking of picnics and hikes. It has been found, however, that boating and swimming will not be among the major sports for at least some time yet.

FLAT DERBY FOR RUDOLPHS.

At last the co-eds of Denver Uni-

Strathcona Hall, Wednesday, at 8.15 p.m. There is still room for new men, particularly in the brass section.

Everyone is requested to bring his Song Book.

FACULTY OF MUSIC.

There will be a rehearsal for Theatre Night in the Conservatorium at 12.30 to-day. A large chorus is needed, so all students should turn out and help.

COMMERCE SHOW.

All those taking part in the Commerce show for Theatre Night are asked to be at the Union ball room to-day at 2 o'clock.

S. C. A. CABINET OF R. V. C.
 There will be a meeting of the Cabinet of the S.C.A. of R.V.C. at 3.30 this afternoon in the Common Room.

R. V. C.

There will be a practice of the choruses for Theatre Night at 5 p.m. in the gym. It is very important that everyone who is taking part should attend.

COMMERCE BASEBALL.

The Commerce team meets the Law team at 5.45 to-night at the Montreal High. The following players are requested to be on hand: McCullough, Campbell, Gauthier, Watson, Magid, Goucher, Kenrick, Milne Johnson and Ross Wilson.

versity, will have the chance to make the men the butt of their jokes. The clothiers of that part have decided that the head gear necessary for the right effect with 1923 fashions is the flat topped derby so much in vogue with slap stick comedians for several years past. On the stage this head dress has never failed to draw a laugh, and it is expected that there will be no failure in this respect upon the adoption of that style by the Rudolfs of that city.

EGYPTIAN KING SLEEPS ON STUDENT'S GROUND.

It would appear that all the talk concerning the resting place of Tutankhamen would affect the interests of college students but little. This, however, is not the case, as El-Dring Mohammed Hamed, an Egyptian student in the medical school of the University of Kansas, claims some land in the vicinity of the tomb. He alleges that an ancient Egyptian king, sleeps on his land, and that he visited the tomb when he was a boy.

COMPLEXIONS CAUSE ANXIETY.

The barber shops of to-day are busier than ever. It is not so much the care of the hair that bothers the male, but the fears of losing his complexion. Males attending the University of Illinois are among the largest users of clay, according to tonsorial reports. It is vouched for by those who know whereof they speak, that in fraternity houses groups of young men may be seen with earthenware faces passing away the time in various diversions. It would seem that this practice has the compensation of bringing the youths home early.

DAILY FILES

MARCH 6, 1912.

John McNaughton elected president of Students' Council. Science gave majority to Sargent, but Arts and Medicine turned tables in favour of candidate from Law. Record vote polled.

Large and enthusiastic athletic gathering. Glowing reports from three big clubs heard. Surplus in Football, Hockey and Track. Plans for Pennsylvania meet in April.

MARCH 6, 1913.

Things are active in musical circles. Convocation Concert held last night, and undergraduate Orchestra to hold another shortly.

Notice of amendment to the Council's Constitution. Suggested that editor of Daily attend meetings and report same, although not a member. Anxiety about Council nominations. As yet no candidates are in the field.

MARCH 6, 1914.

Alma Mater Dance to be held to-night. Everything points to a big success. All the tickets have been sold for two weeks.

It Pays to Advertise

THAT'S a recognized fact today. But bear this in mind: the only reason it pays to advertise is that millions of thrifty folks find it a paying proposition to be guided by the advertisements. If you will read advertising consistently for a while you'll readily agree that this statement is true.

It will pay you in money saved. Real bargains are offered frequently in the advertisements that appear in this paper. Watch for them. Take advantage of them.

It will pay you in time saved. It tells you exactly when and where to go for what you want to buy. You don't have to waste time and effort "shopping around." If your time is worth money, advertising will pay you.

It will pay you in added satisfaction. Every time a merchant or manufacturer advertises he obligates himself to sell you goods that are as advertised. Read the advertisements and be sure you get your money's worth.

Reading the advertisements is a plain every-day business proposition. It is a duty you owe yourself and your pocketbook.

SWIMMERS MAKE PLANS FOR YEAR

Officers Elected at Meeting Yesterday

Last night, at the Union, the Swimming Club held an extremely important meeting, not only as regards the business brought up for discussion, but as to the general programme decided upon by the Club for the next year.

About fifteen men gathered at the Union for the meeting. The minutes of the last meeting were then read and adopted. A letter from Sir Arthur Currie was then read, in which he complimented the Club on their signal success during the past year, and predicting a bright future for this sport next year. A motion was passed that a letter of thanks be sent to Sir Arthur. The election of officers for the coming year was the next business dealt with. The following were elected: Hon. Pres., Dr. Sullivan; Hon. Vice-Pres., Professor Kelly; Pres., L. Parsons; Vice-Pres., W. Munro; Sec.-Treas. and Manager, C. M. Anson; Reporter, Mallen; Captain of Senior Water Polo team, J. B. Ross; Captain of Senior Swimming Team, G. Vernot. The following officers were also elected to the Intercollegiate Swimming Association: Vice-Pres., L. Parsons; Sec., C. M. Anson. The president of this association is elected by Toronto.

The next matter brought up for discussion was the position of the Intermediate and Senior teams in the City League. It had been pointed out that it was very hard for McGill, with no bath of her own, to carry on in the City League and play her Intercollegiate games as well. This point was brought before the meeting and a suggestion made that McGill should drop out of the City League till she had a pool of her own. The discussion over this point was of a prolonged nature, and became quite heated. At this point another suggestion was made concerning the forming of one or two other teams, not as entries in any outside league, as this would lead to too great a number of games, but for the purpose of competition in College. It was shown that this would stimulate interest amongst those who had turned out and were unable to make the College teams, it would also prove a training ground and a source of supply upon which the College teams could draw. Men playing on either of the Senior or Intermediate teams would be barred from participation on these other teams, but this would not prevent a man who showed promise in being promoted from one of these teams to the College teams. The question of the City League teams was again reverted to, and it was moved by Brown and seconded by Kyle, that the teams remain in the City League. After more argument on the formation of a polo league within the College it was decided that as the majority of the polo players were drawn from the Science Faculty the formation of an Interfaculty League would not be possible. It was finally moved by Laidley, and seconded by Ross, that a House League be formed, the teams to be picked in a manner similar to that of the Junior A. and B. basketball teams.

The next matter to be brought before the Club was the writing of a letter to the Athletic Association to request that George Vernot be granted his major M. because of his invaluable services on the polo teams since his coming to College. This was moved by Anson and seconded by Laidley, and passed without further discussion.

Graham-Browne then brought forward the suggestion of a dinner for the Swimming Club. This meeting, with the unanimous approval of the members, was discussed at some length. It was decided that the dinner be held during next week, and Mr. Brown was nominated to look after the matter.

The meeting then adjourned, the business under discussion having already occupied part of the dinner hour.

will be given a chance to shine, and in face to dazzle the audience by a display of technical and idiomatic knowledge of the language and literature of France (?); third, the audience, which will, it is hoped, include every girl who understands enough French to pass her matriculation (in other words every member of the undergraduate body) will find in the choice of subjects an intellectual feast and a soul-stirring panorama of all that concerns our private and our public life as individuals and as a corporate body, of the life of our University, our city, the Dominion and the Empire.

The judges will be members of the French department: Mlle. Touren, Prof. Du Roure and Dr. Villard. Three prizes will be awarded in accordance with their decision, and the individual agonies will not be prolonged beyond the two-minute time limit. At the conclusion of the meeting tea will be served.

B.W. & F. TO MAKE TRIP TO ST. ANNES

Smoker Will Vary Hospital Life

The B. W. & F. will conclude its activities for the present session with a smoker at St. Annes' Military Hospital on Wednesday night of this week. The smoker held there last year was a decided success, the inmates enjoying every moment of it, and they are looking forward with keen anticipation to the coming smoker.

Any one who has ever been to St. Annes' can, without any stretch of the imagination, realize the very drab and monotonous life of the inmates of the hospital there.

The object of the Smoker is to bring a little change into their daily life, and if the men asked to participate will support the executive, the purpose will be achieved.

The following men are asked to meet the Grand Trunk train at 6.45, Bonaventure Station, on Wednesday night:

Rumple, Freedman, Armstrong, McEoy, Adams, Clement, Howes, McDonald, Abinovich, Marshall, Snow, Brewer, Merritt, Caron, Champion, O'Brien, Schleifler, Sharpe, Wilson, Stone, "Shorty" Morris.

Men are expected to bring their own togs.

It is expected that the executive will have an announcement of very vital importance to all contestants.

RULES FOR RUGBY REMAIN UNCHANGED

Schedule for Next Fall Announced

The annual meeting of the Canadian Intercollegiate Rugby Union was held at Queen's University Saturday. Representatives were present from Toronto, Queen's, McGill and Royal Military College. The following officers were elected:

Hon. President—Prof. C. W. Drury, Queen's.
President—R. Weaver, Varsity.
Honorary Sec.-Treas.—S. W. Houston, Queen's.

The offices of the first and second vice-presidents were left open for the present. It is expected representatives from the Royal Military College and McGill University will fill the vacancies.

In the afternoon the main theme of discussion was a review of the present rules of the union. The meeting was unanimous in its approval of the present rules of play and it was decided that no changes whatever were needed for the coming season. The numerous changes adopted by the organization last year have proved highly satisfactory and have worked for the betterment of the game. A suggestion regarding the American forward pass was brought up but did not receive any serious consideration.

The following schedule for the senior series was drawn up:

October 6—Queen's at McGill.
October 13—Varsity at McGill.
October 30—Queen's at Varsity.
October 27—McGill at Queen's.
November 3—Varsity at Queen's.
November 10—McGill at Varsity.

EUROPEAN STUDENTS THANK CANADIANS

A letter has just been received by the European Student Relief Association from Dr. Jaro. Kose, written on behalf of the European students at Prague, expressing their deep thanks for the many and generous gifts of the Canadian and American students.

Miss Margaret Quayle, who attended the Students' Conference at Toronto during the Christmas holidays, transmitted to the students of Prague, who represent some eight different nations, the best wishes of Canadian students. Miss Quayle also told of the spirit of self-denial shown by numerous students. She spoke of the impulsive and generous action of one student at the Conference by proposing the collection, which resulted in the raising of twenty-six hundred dollars. They were also told of the unselfishness on the part of the British Columbia students, who gave up their trip to Niagara Falls in order that they might subscribe.

Prague is a big over-crowded student centre, containing not less than 24,000 students, gathered from thirteen different European states. These are either in Port or Commerce Academies. The Universities of Europe do not provide for the bodily comfort of the student, and is necessary for this huge band to seek food and shelter throughout the city. Many of the students are absolutely destitute, and it is with the utmost difficulty that they obtain enough to keep body and soul together.

If any Canadian students desire an exchange of letters this may be accomplished by communicating with Miss Quayle.

STUDENTS IN LINE FOR SUMMER WORK

Drill Classes Make for Profitable Vacation

The third drill class for the McGill "Wear-Over" Sales corps will be held this evening at 5 o'clock, in Strathcona Hall.

The local organization is well satisfied with the interest shown by McGill students in this form of summer employment. Twenty-six men have already signed their intention of selling the product during the coming summer, and are attending the various drill classes. The purpose of these classes is to thoroughly train the men before they enter the field, so that they will be enabled to start efficient work at once. In addition to this course, a general agent starts a man in the field, by personal assistance for a couple of days. There is thus small possibility of failure, providing, of course, that the necessary energy is expended.

By the "Wear-Over" system of selling, the wearisome house to house canvassing is forbidden, and demonstrations relied upon for results. Many students who are interested in lucrative and interesting work for the coming summer are investigating the "Wear-Over" proposition. A McGill student last year earned $1,000 in the game.

Information as to applications and territories still open may be gained at to-day's drill; those unable to attend should call Bill Brewer, Plat. 474, for appointment.

PROFESSIONAL MEN OR TRADESMEN

Eighty-five per cent of the success of an engineer is based on character and personality, fifteen per cent on technical knowledge, said C. E. Drayer, national secretary of the American Association of Engineering, speaking before the Ames chapter of that organization recently.

Though the speaker was a nationally known engineer speaking to engineering students, cannot the same statement be made concerning any student in college? In a school where technical training is properly paramount as at Ames the importance of avoiding narrowness and shallowness in following one's own limited line of study is frequently lost sight of.

Engineering schools are beginning to believe that four years are not enough to produce real engineers. There is time only for highly specialized training and not enough time for laying a stronger foundation in fundamentals such as English history, economics and in other broadening subjects as psychology, journalism, business engineering and the like. Consequently a five year course is being introduced into many institutions and in the opinion of some it will only be a question of time until it will be the curriculum at Ames.

Specialization is essential to progress in any field, and at Ohio State it has been realized that students must specialize if they are to make a definite contribution after graduation. Ames isn't one of the schools that graduate seniors who aren't fitted to do anything definite after leaving school.

While the specialist without knowledge outside of his own field can succeed to a degree, however, he cannot go as far under varying circumstances as the man with a broader foundation, one who has training along the lines which once seemed inapplicable to his work and which perhaps gave no immediate promise of fattening his pocketbook.

It is the tendency to want to study only what seems of "practical" value. When electives are offered many a student chooses them all from his own department, intensifying his knowledge of his own subject but neglecting other things that would tend to make him a well-rounded man and in the long run a better agriculturist, engineer or scientist as well.

Some are content to graduate with a Bachelor of Science degree when in reality they are only tradesmen. Others with more foresight map their college courses in such a manner that they deserve the name of professional men that is given them with their diplomas. — Iowa State Student.

THE SEALED LID OF THE PAST.

"The tender grace of a day that is dead
Will never come back to me."

—Tennyson.
Sometimes we are glad that the past is gone and can't come back. But many, many times we wish that it might be recalled and relieved.

Who is it that hasn't felt a pang for a friend separated from his side temporarily or forever? Who hasn't experienced those deep and ogilomy thoughts would surely be an exception to have of the days when he lived at home with all the love and tender care that a loved mother and father could give? One never felt that the whole world gave no thought or care for him. We all have those days. We call them our off days. None ever wishes to recall them.

But there is a day that would never end if mortal power could prevent. It is that day in which we see God's love in everything about us, see a smile of greeting on the lips of every friend, and feel our own heart rise up within us to meet the joys of others. Those are the days that we wish to recall and relive. Let us have more of them.—The Shark Lariat.

THINGS TO WORRY OVER

—By Psyche.

The editors of this column beg to apologize for their tardiness in acknowledging their gratefulness to Mr. John Keats for his "Ode to Psyche."

The Princess Prymalinza of Roumania has made quite a name for herself.

"The Egyptian woman who threw herself into the Canal at Port Said the other day was apparently attempting Suezide."

"Some of the greatest discoveries," says a well known college professor, "have been the result of accidents." A scientist never can tell what he's liable to run into.

A local newspaper prints: "Australia to enter Davis Cup."

Glickman, the M.A.A.A. star, was able to slip a nice shot into the ring after a clever bit of dribbling. A few seconds later, this fast moving player sent two free tries into the ring. He is a dead shot, and scored six out of eight of his free shots.

Again Turpel and Little outwitted the Peel Street defence, and Little netted a crafty shot from under the ring. After a few minutes of wild passing and reckless shooting on the part of both teams, Turpel got the ball well down the floor and worked his way up to the basket to score. The next minute the same forward terminated a bit of team work with a one handed heave that found its way into the basket. Glickman demonstrated his free try ability and netted two shots on a Red and White foul. Johnson, of the Winged Wheelers, broke through a bit later to score. The McGill defence played all the time a steady game, and coming up the floor only far enough to pass on to the forward line. Both of them gave nice exhibitions of defence work, and although the opposition was fighting a hard, clean game, they were at most times unable to score.

The next bit of work on the forward line saw Philpott catch a rebound and hurl the sphere into the ring for the count. Glickman scored on two more free tries. Turpel and Little cut loose and after playing the ball over most of the floor they worked up to the basket and Little scored. On a pass from Philpott, Turpel shot a long one into the basket, and the whistle blew. McGill was leading with the score 17 to 11 in their favour. Although the Red and White had a slight lead the Blues were at all times playing a good game, but were forced to take long shots on which there seemed to be the proverbial jinx. On one or two short tries they were not able to tally.

The second period Coach Van Wagner sent the spares he had held on the bench into the game. Manson went in as a forward, and Mendelsohn as forward, while Amaron was tried out on the defence. All of these men showed no little skill at the game, and soon the basket was bombarded with shots. The majority of which tallied. The period opened when Manson got the jump and sent the ball to Little, who drew both the defence men over and passed to Mendelsohn, who in turn scored. Before the M. A. A. A. was able to recover from this bit of work the same three, with Amaron thrown in for luck, repeated the trick, and again Mendelsohn scored.

Broker, the M.A.A.A. forward, tallied in a few seconds. The Peel St. team used no substitutes, and the pace told badly on the players, as no time-outs were called, so that the three fresh players had little trouble in working their way around the defence. Little caught a pass meant for the Blues, and added two more points to his record. Amaron and Mendelsohn, after a nice bit of fake passing, tallied. Hilton staged the next play when he removed the ball from the M. A. A. A. team's possession and sent a long pass to Mendelsohn, who tore the nets with another shot! Broker again scored after he had slipped by the defence. Manson ended a bit of passing by dropping the ball just over the edge of the ring and in. Philpott went on for Little, and scored on a pass from Mendelsohn. Glickman tallied on a free try. Mendelsohn did the same trick. Amaron got the ball and after a nice bit of work passed to Mendelsohn, who returned it and the big defence man scored. Mendelsohn netted two free tries. Turpel went on for Mendelsohn and shortly after gave the ball to Amaron, who passed to Manson and the giant pivot scored.

Philpott did the one man act when he staged a lone rush up the floor, scoring a nifty shot while travelling at full speed. Amaron repeated the same trick an instant later, and tallied. The ball went up and down the floor until Manson scored on a Texas leaguer just over the heads of the defence. Game over.

AT THE IMPERIAL

With several items of more than ordinary merit, others not below the average and a picture that made up in exciting incidents what it lacked in good acting, the Imperial this week presents a bill that is thoroughly deserving of the applause it receives from the audiences.

In a sketch entitled "Poughkeepsie," the story of a travelling salesman and his trials and tribulations both Herbert Denton and Alice Walsh appear to great advantage. The playlet is replete with humorous touches which meet with the wholehearted approval of the house.

Ralph Rodgers finds the audiences favor through his queer dress and still queerer mannerisms. Elsie Donnelly, his partner, has a fair voice which we cannot enjoy as well as we might owing to the numerous "funny" interruptions of the male member of the company. But the title "The Jazz Wop and the Prima Donna," perhaps explains the matter.

Lloyd Ibach's Entertainers well deserve their name. Their rendition of "Snice" and "Carolina in the Morning" is as near perfect as may be expected, while the saxophone solo provided a rare treat for those whose good fortune it was to hear it last night. The patter work of Ibach himself is incomparable.

Joe Holland and Kathleen O'Den in "Ain't Nature Grand" pull a few jokes that Montreal has not heard for some time, but that does not matter, for the listener's attention is not centered on the jokes but rather on Miss O'Den, whose powers of attraction are just slightly out of the ordinary.

The Scotch Kids give a good exhibition of Highland dances, while the Jennier Brothers offer a nerve-racking display of mid-air acrobatics.

"When Husbands Deceive," featuring Leah Baird, gives the audience a thrill in every scene until the very last, when the heroine is saved by her faithful dog. Topics of the Day, Imperial News and one of Aesop's fables are also on the programme.

ALMA MATER DANCE TO BE A GALA AFFAIR

Tickets Go on Sale To-day

IN THE UNION

Other Universities Invited to Send Representatives

Tickets for the Alma Mater dance on March 16th will go on sale at one o'clock today in the Union Tuck Shop.

This dance, the most elaborate of all college affairs, promises this year to eclipse the splendour of all former ones. The programmes will be published in the near future, and will satisfy the desires of the most fastidious devotees of terpsichore.

To transport the dancers into a realm of ecstasy the University Dance Orchestra has been engaged for the evening. In addition, the orchestra has been augmented to seven pieces, and the baby grand piano which they will use will be specially rented for the occasion.

Invitations have been extended to the University of Toronto, Queen's and Montreal to send representatives to the dances, and in all likelihood these will be accepted. Amongst those who will be in attendance will be Sir Arthur and Lady Currie, the Deans of the Faculties and their wives, and Miss Hurlburt, Warden of the Royal Victoria College.

As previously announced no preference will be given to the senior students, and the tickets will be sold to those first presenting themselves at the Union today. As the ticket sale is limited to 125 couples, many will be disappointed if they do not procure their tickets early.

As no other dances are scheduled to take place before the Alma Mater, the work of decorating the ball room will be commenced shortly. The dance committee has drawn up many ingenious plans for decorating the ball room for the occasion, and novelties and diverting features will add to the general success of the gala affair.

COMMERCE IS OUT TO MAKE ITSELF KNOWN

University and consequently its existence. It was found that this was the best method of bringing about closer co-operation between these men and the Department of Commerce.

The committee have gone to considerable trouble and expense to make sure that everything will go off without a hitch. Attractive menus have been printed, and the food has been carefully selected by several connoisseurs of international fame, and the chief chef of the Mount Royal Hotel who before coming to Montreal to help prepare this banquet, was the head culinary artist to His Majesty the King of Roumania. Gaston, the head waiter, who has been specially procured for the evening was formerly employed by the very critical but now late lamented Czar of Russia. The dinner is to be served in the spacious ball room, and the service promised is of the best. An orchestra composed of Montreal's most talented musicians is being engaged for the event.

ARTS DEAN SPEAKS TO CANADIAN CLUB

Dr. Laing Against Sectionalism in Education

Addressing the Canadian Club yesterday afternoon, Dr. Gordon Laing, Dean of the Faculty of Arts, strongly denounced the sectional spirit in the matter of education. It is necessary, he said, that education be regarded from the point of view of the whole Dominion rather than that of the town or province, said the Dean. The Dean's points were illustrated by several screamingly funny incidents that made his audience shake with laughter on more than one occasion.

Dr. Laing referred to the recent efforts in the direction of the establishment of a Dominion Bureau of Education, and regretted that sectional and provincial differences had prevented the proposal from being carried through.

There was absolute need of such a bureau, not to interfere with the rights or autonomy of any of the provinces, but to collect information and statistics for the use of educationists all over the Dominion.

The proposal had been turned down because people thought it was the thin end of the wedge for a bureau that would ultimately dominate education all over Canada.

It was feared, for instance, that the head of the bureau might not be from Quebec. He would probably be from Ontario, and he would probably not be from Liberal Ontario, but from that quarter which was the source of all sorts of prohibitions and inhibitions.

In fact, they even feared the Education Bureau might interfere with the sale of liquor, so they tearfully turned it down.

As a matter of fact, such a bureau would never have any such effects, but it would have a salutary influence in counteracting the rabid sectionalism which permeated education throughout Canada.

For example, the speaker cited the fact that the most brilliant graduate of McGill could not be accepted as a teacher in Ontario, unless he passed an examination in the subjects set down by the Ontario Government.

In the speaker's school days, when a vacancy occurred for a French teacher, the directors declined to consider for a moment that there were in the Dominion of Canada good Canadians, whose native tongue was French. They gave the place to a Middlesex man whose natural inability to pronounce French had been aggravated by a course at a university where the French Department was in the hands of Anglo-Saxons.

If strong men shuddered and women winced when Dr. Laing spoke of alleged French, it was all the fault of that teacher.

His mathematics teacher was equally brilliant. When the principal made the boys in his class change the letters in their Euclid propositions they thought it unfair. He asked the teacher once what was the god of geometry, and was told, "To train the memory."

Once, after doing five books of Euclid, he was stopped by a bricklayer who asked him to explain the relation of the angles in the building he was working on. He replied that he had not got that far yet.

Next day he told his teacher what the bricklayer had asked, and the teacher told him bricklayers were ignorant men and it was hard to know what the fellow meant.

He was now convinced that the bricklayer should have been in the school teaching mathematics, and that the professor should have been outside carrying bricks.

A big step towards preventing these misfits in colleges, would be the issue of a teacher's certificate that would be good all over the Dominion. The establishment of a Dominion Bureau would probably help towards that end.

The same spirit of sectionalism was holding up the movement for a great Eastern university. He learned that New Brunswick had just refused to join in that project, preferring to have a university of her own. This sectionalism and consideration of small local interests before the general interest of the Dominion was likely to prove very harmful to the cause of education as a whole.

Those at the head table included E. W. Beatty, K.C.; Sir Arthur Currie, Bishop Farthing, Dean Adams, Dr. G. W. Armstrong, J. J. Creelman K.C., and others.

PLAN IS DISCUSSED FOR MEMORIAL HALL

At a meeting of the combined lodges of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, held yesterday morning, the project of building a large hall as a memorial to the men who fell in the Great War was discussed at length. The Order pledging itself to carry the work through to a successful conclusion.

The plans are to build a hall which will not only be a thing of beauty, but something that will prove of use to the city. It is proposed that the hall have a seating capacity of about four thousand in order that if a good musical programme were put on the price of seats would not prove prohibitive for any class, no matter how poor. Sir Arthur Currie is heartily in favour of this scheme.

Some steps have been taken to enlist the co-operation of McGill University, with a view to McGill joining in the project. The Board of Governors has been approached as regards this, and it has been suggested that as the University has no place for Convocation exercises this building might be utilized. McGill has long desired a Convocation Hall for which the McCord Museum site is favoured, in the event of the I.O.D.E. and the University co-operating in this matter, it is possible that the Memorial Hall might be erected there, the Museum finding another home.

THE LITERARY URGE.

There is scarcely anyone among those outside the literary circle who has not at some time in his life felt an overwhelming desire to write. This itself is noteworthy, as it is an indication that we all possess within us some message which tries to find expression, and the impulse should be encouraged rather than checked. The unfortunate part of this almost universal desire to write is that publication is regarded as the essential to success. This is true enough if those who seek this expression are writing primarily for the purpose of securing a place in the literary world. If, on the other hand, the measure of success desired lies simply in the personal gratification of recording on paper hitherto in tangible and fugitive thoughts and ideas, how much greater really is the achievement?

Words form so commonplace a part of our everyday life that one is likely to be misled as to his ability to write. blocks in the nursery, this one a pillar, that a pediment, a third a window or a vase." Anyone may play with these word-blocks, arranging them in such order as best forms the design of his thought. If this arrangement expresses the thought to the satisfaction of the one who forms it, it is eminently successful to give to it the proper literary standpoint the pattern devised must prove acceptable to the world.

Herein lies the great point of difference. Why should one who feels the inward craving to write refrain because he feels that there is no market for his work? Publication is of secondary importance. If the message is of world interest and the person through whom it finds expression prepares himself by study to give to it the proper literary form, it is inevitable that it should be published. If the message, moreover, is merely of personal or limited interest, why should it be repressed? It is an expression usually of one's finer self, which, once released from the inner shrine, may grow to proportions beyond expectations. Even if he fails to grow, it is still worth while.

In music one finds pleasure and comfort in playing to one's self; in art, one even slightly gifted finds gratification in transferring to canvas, no matter how crudely, bits of landscape or scenes which recall to him pleasant memories. There is no less pleasure in music because public performances are unthought of, nor less satisfaction in the artistic efforts because they are not to be offered for sale. The real reward lies in the striving to attain, and the personal expression this entails. Writing offers the easiest medium known to that something within us which we prize more than we are often willing to admit, yet we place upon it needless limitations when we think of our literary effort in terms of the printed page — Christian Science Monitor.

ON SUNDAY WE READ

The modern press has formed the habit of saving all the sensational news of the week for the Sunday issue, a supplement containing mostly unadulterated trash. Certain papers do have Sunday sections that possess real literary merit, but these are exceptions.

Recently the famous dancer, Isadora Duncan, burst forth into print and also denunciations against the people of this country who are so prudish and obsolete as to believe that the marriage ceremony is one of the basic principles of human society. Miss Duncan, in her article, which appeared in one of the Sunday papers, made the statement that it would be a good thing for humanity to rotate the baby crop in much the same manner as the potato crop is rotated because women with husbands more than fifty years old would be enabled to leave them in the lurch for younger men who are more fit to be the fathers of strong children. Such statements show that the graceful little dancer has been for some time beyond the pale of civilization: she has been in the pale of Russia.

It would be fitting for the papers to use more discretion in the choice of the material for their Sunday supplements. There is a class of people who feed on the sensational scandals of the day like so many vultures, but it must be admitted that the majority of the thinking citizens desire real literature Sunday morning. —The Michigan Daily.

A lady who sat on a stove Predicted: "I think I'll very soon rove Or else I believe I'll have reason to grieve For I'll be warm over something, by Jove!"

Some wise person has sagaciously remarked that in this day of automobiles one has to be either with the quick or the dead.

Long skirts seem to have put the "miss" in mystery.
